7 Spiritual Habits Every Catholic Can Build

(even when life is overwhelming)

2. Daily Scripture Reading: Let God Speak First

Most Catholics hear Scripture at Mass on Sunday. But building a daily Scripture habit changes your relationship with the Word of God from passive listening to active conversation.

You don't need to read ten chapters. The daily Mass readings — available free online or through any Catholic app — give you a structured, liturgically aligned portion of Scripture every single day. The Church has already done the curation for you.

How to build this habit

- Start with just the daily Gospel reading — usually 8-12 verses
- Read it slowly, once. Then read it again. Ask: What is God saying to me today?
- Pair it with your morning coffee or evening wind-down — anchor it to something you already do
- If you want to go deeper, try praying with Scripture verses about spiritual growth

Readings for the week of August 10

Monday 2 Cor 9:6-10 Ps 112:1-2, 5-6, 7-8, 9 Jn 12:24-26
Tuesday Ez 2:8—3:4 Ps 119:14, 24, 72, 103, 111, 131 Mt 18:1-5, 10, 12-14
Wednesday Ez 9:1-7; 10:18-22 Ps 113:1-2, 3-4, 5-6 Mt 18:15-20
Thursday Ez 12:1-12 Ps 78:56-57, 58-59, 61-62 Mt 18:21—19:1
Friday Ez 16:1-15, 60, 63 or 16:59-63 Is 12:2-3, 4bcd, 5-6 Mt 19:3-12

3. The Rosary: A Spiritual Habit the Saints Swore By

The rosary isn't just a devotion — it's a spiritual habit that has anchored Catholic prayer life for over eight hundred years. St. Padre Pio called it his "weapon." Our Lady of Fatima asked specifically for the daily rosary.

And yet, for many Catholics, the rosary feels like a mountain. Twenty minutes? Every day? With wandering thoughts and restless kids? Here's the honest truth: a distracted rosary still offered with love is infinitely more valuable than the "perfect" rosary you never prayed.

How to Build This Habit

- Start with one decade, not five. Five minutes is better than zero.
- Pray it during something you already do — commuting, walking, waiting in the carpool line
- If your mind wanders, gently come back. That's not failure. That's prayer.
- Use a physical rosary. The beads in your fingers keep you grounded when your mind floats away.

4. The Examen: The 10-Minute Habit That Changes Everything

The Daily Examen is a five-step evening prayer developed by St. Ignatius of Loyola. Of all the spiritual habits on this list, this might be the one that produces the most growth in the shortest time.

Why? Because the Examen trains you to notice God in your actual day — in the argument at lunch, the unexpected beauty on your drive home, the choice you made when no one was watching.

The Catechism describes this kind of prayerful self-examination as essential to the Christian life: "The examination of conscience must be illuminated by the light of God's word" (CCC 1454).

The Five Steps (Simplified)

1. Be still. Ask God to be with you in this review.
2. Give thanks. Name two or three things from today you're grateful for.
3. Review. Walk through your day. Where did you feel close to God? Where did you feel far away?
4. Repent. Talk to God honestly about where you fell short.
5. Resolve. Ask for grace for tomorrow. Pick one thing to do differently.

The whole thing takes ten minutes. Many Catholics who practice the Examen consistently say it's the single spiritual habit that has changed their life the most — because it connects prayer to the gritty, messy reality of daily living.

Every day begin the task anew. That's the whole secret of the spiritual life. Not perfection — persistence.

School lunch volunteers still needed for the fall

Are you looking to help out at Saint Kevin School this year? SKS needs volunteers to help at lunchtime and recess for all grade levels (middle school, 3-5, 1-2, K, and pre-K). Lunch times range from 11:15 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. There will be a brief workshop with the volunteers to go over expectations and policies to ensure the safety of our school community prior to the start of the school year.

All volunteers must have an up-to-date BCI and Safe Environment training to volunteer at the school.

If you have any questions or are interested in volunteering to help the school, please contact dirving@saintkevinschool.org or call the school at 401-737-7172. Summer office hours are Tuesday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Diocesan Annual Wedding Anniversary Celebration

Couples observing anniversaries of 25, 40, 50 and more than 50 years of marriage in 2026 are cordially invited to attend the annual Wedding Anniversary Celebration that takes place each fall in the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, Providence, RI. This year couples will be honored and celebrated on Sunday, October 18 at 1 p.m. The day will include Holy Mass, renewal of marriage vows, a personalized certificate for each couple, and a reception for the couples and their families and guests.

Couples must register through St. Kevin's to participate. Registration forms are available in St. Kevin's parish office and completed forms must be signed by Fr. Marciano and returned to the diocesan Office of Marriage Preparation & Enrichment in advance of the celebration by the parish.

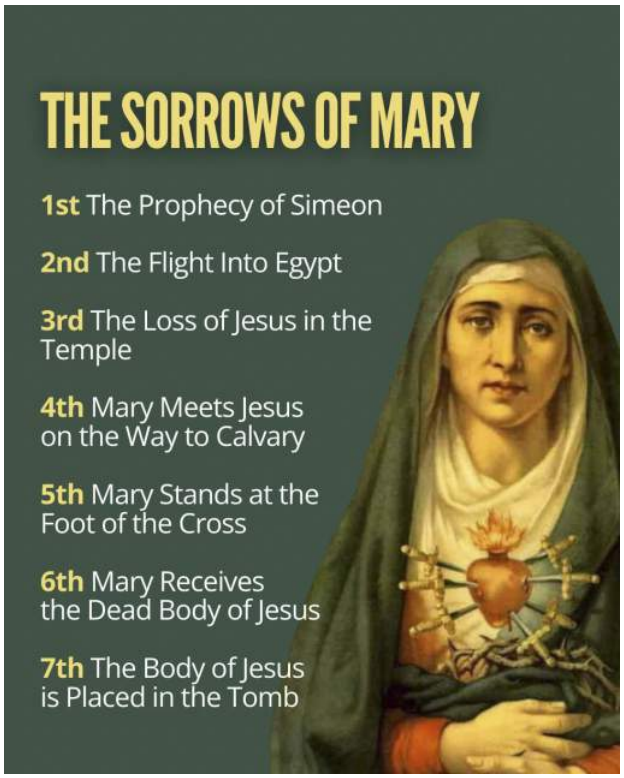
Parish office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Sundays from 9 a.m. to noon.

A TREASURE IN CLAY

The Autobiography of Fulton J. Sheen

Chapter 8 DESIRING THE EPISCOPACY

How many priests wish to become bishops? There is no way of knowing, for only God knows what goes on inside of the human heart. St. Paul wrote: " It is an honorable ambition to aspire to be a bishop." Perhaps this was because, in the early days, many of the bishops became martyrs. It was a much more uncomfortable post of leadership than it is today. I must confess I started praying when I was a young priest to become a bishop. What was clearly the motive was the desire to be a successor of the Apostles. I do not remember exactly when, but I believe it was during my first– or second-year graduate work at the University of Louvain. I remember the form the petition took. On the way to class, I passed the Church of St. Michael, on the walls of which were paintings of the Seven Dolors of the Blessed Mother. A Hail Mary at each of the Seven Dolors was offered for that intention, and I have continued that prayer though I have been a bishop for many years.

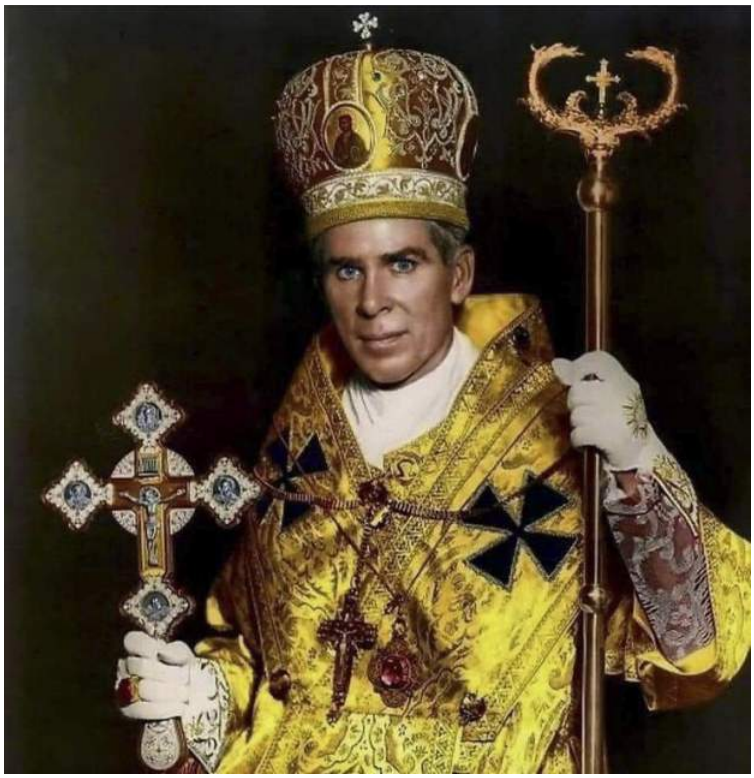


Along with that prayer to God went a resolution never to do anything by myself, or to cultivate any friendship, or to use any human means to achieve that "honorable ambition." I had occasion to put that resolution into practice.

As a young professor at the Catholic University, I was asked by Bishop Kelly for permission to submit my name to Rome as a bishop. I asked for a few days to think it over; then I wrote: "There are two ways in which one advances in the Church. One is by a push from below, and the other is by a gift from above." By a "push from below" I meant influence or intercession by another. By a "gift from above" I meant appointment by the Holy See under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit and without the influence of men. I concluded the letter by saying that since his invitation was a "push from below," and not a "gift from above," I would have to refuse. Archbishop Quinn of San Francisco, who was formerly the Bishop of Oklahoma, told me that he saw that letter in the files of the diocese.

Shortly after being named National Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, I was ordained Bishop in the Church of St. John and Paul in Rome on the eleventh of June 1951. I afterward learned that this was done through the good graces of Cardinal Spellman.

A very crucial moment in my life began when a considerable amount of money came into my hands as a result of television. Along with gifts and wills, the sum ran into millions of dollars. Since I was director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, my life was committed to the spreading of the Gospel, the building of hospitals, leprosaria, schools, etc. in Africa, Asia, Oceania and other parts of the world. But since I was appointed by the Holy See to this position, and since I dearly loved the missions of the Church, I insisted on giving not only every cent that came in through the ordinary channels—that is, through the diocesan offices—but through my own personal efforts, to Rome and its Sacred Congregation to be distributed for the planting of the Church throughout the world. What does it mean to be a bishop? When Our Blessed Lord first called Peter and the other Apostles to Himself, He said that from now on they would catch souls instead of fish. Whether or not a promotion in the Church increases the ability to fill nets is another matter. Statistics do not prove that one can catch more fish seated on the bank dressed in purple than when dressed in black. Rather, it would seem that the responsibility increases because the fisherman uses only a hook, but a bishop uses a crosier, or a crook. That means that he is to increase Christ's fold whether they be fish or lambs, both "by hook and by crook."



The Christian law is that the higher we go, the lower we are to become. Our Blessed Lord said, "Let the greatest among you be as the least." There is a danger of the pomp and circumstance of the treasure making one forget the clay. A sense of elation comes with the pectoral cross around one's neck, and some of us who start fumbling with it when it is first put over our shoulders never stop until the end of our days. It is called a pectoral cross, not a crucifix. The ring on the finger, the zucchetto on the head, the title "Bishop"—all these things have a ring about them and all contribute to a sense of false euphoria, what I confess having had.

In England and in Ireland, a bishop is addressed as "Lord" or "My Lord." There is the story of a newly ordained bishop in England who was asked: "How shall I address you?" He answered: "You may address me as 'My Lord,' but do not address me as 'My God.'" I also confess to the joy at the privileges that are given to a bishop—his place at table, the extra-soft prie-dieu, and the reverence born of faith. In a very short time I discovered that I was no different than before, that the clay was just as weak as ever, that the esteem people paid me was not necessarily the way the Lord looked on me. It took me some time to discover that the jewel in the ring does not necessarily become a jewel in a crown of Heaven.
